'Digital education needs top priority'

Arun Maira delivers 21st convocation address at SDM-IMD

The gold medal winners are seen with former Chairman of Boston Consulting Group and former member, Planning Commission of India Arun Maira, Dharmadhikari of Dharmasthala and SDM-IMD Chairman Dr. D. Veerendra Heggade, SDM-IMD Director Dr. N.R. Parasuraman and others at the convocation of SDM-IMD in city yesterday.

Mysuru, Mar. 26 (YDS&US)- "The Universities should give more priority for digital education which has become very popular across the globe," opined Arun Maira, former Chairman, Boston Consulting Group and former member, Planning Commission of India.

He was delivering the address of the 21st annual convocation of SDM-IMD at its premises at the foot of Chamundi Hill here yesterday.

Arun Maira said that students usually picked up theoretical knowledge during the learning stage and practical knowledge after getting into a job. He added that learning was eternal and thrust should be given for innovations.

Dharmadhikari of Dharmasthala and SDM-IMD Chairman Dr. D. Veerendra Heggade presiding over the function advised students to achieve their goals in career through right manner and not at the cost of human values.

Certificates of PG Diploma in Management were handed over to 170 students of 2014-16 batch while gold medals were presented to Krithi Shukla, Neethu Prabhakaran, Dronam Raju and Anurag S. Sahapur.

SDM-IMD Director Dr. N.R. Parasuraman, Manager (Administration) C.V. Sridhar and others were present on the occasion.
