Mysuru: Two school libraries were inaugurated in the city on Friday. While one was set up by the students of a private college, the other was set up by an NGO.

The first library was opened in Adarsha Vidyalaya at the foot of Chamundi Hills. SDMIMD students' group — Library Initiative for Education (LIFE) -- had taken up the initiative to start a library at the government school to help its children. After inaugurating the library, SDMIMD dean R Jagadeesh said such initiatives make younger generation more responsible for societal needs, and help them demonstrate their managerial skills in project execution.

LIFE member Anil Ram said: "We are happy to see our project being inaugurated by Deepthi and Pranav, students of the school, along with college deputy director H Gayatri. The project gave us a chance to put our management skills in social initiatives to test. Apart from establishing a library, we are also promoting newspaper reading among the students."

Sathish, the school headmaster, thanked SDMIMD students, Pramathi Hill View Academy, Ramakrishna Vidyashala and other private institutions for donating books and furniture for the library.
