AN international conference on the theme 'Economic Growth and Sustainable Development: Emerging Trends' has been organised by SDMIMD Institute on November 15 and 16.

The conference will be held in the backdrop of growing economic uncertainties in significant parts of the world, including India. It also has the objective of reviewing the sustainability frameworks adopted in different contexts by the national economies, and the firms.

Industry professionals and international academics will deliver lectures on issues pertaining to the theme. The conference will have a panel discussion on sustainability and business economy featuring experts from different domains of sustainability.

Dr Venkatraja, conference chairperson said that the conference will deliberate on the factors driving growth and causing a slowdown in the economies in the emerging global open market.

Dr Sebastien Chantelot, director of La Rochelle Business School (France) and Vice Dean-Academics of Excelia Group will be the chief guest. A pre-conference workshop on the theme 'Development Banking and Inclusive Growth' will be held on November 14.
